Dear Seniors:

Of the many tasks which we have performed as producers of your school newspaper, this opportunity to express to you our sincere congratulations through the 1970 TORNADO, is one of the most pleasant. Therefore, we would like to add our best wishes to the many kind expressions that you deserve and that we are sure you will receive.

As you depart from these halls of learning and face the challenges which await you, we sincerely hope you adopt the Journalism Creed as your creed and keep it uppermost in your minds. This Creed contains the following salient points:

1. The life of Service
2. The practice of cooperation for worthy purposes
3. The encouragement of continuous personal and professional growth
4. The discovery of newer and better ways of doing things
5. The dignity of labor – really, the virtue of hard work
6. The use of direct and practical methods
7. The doing of each job well

We encourage you to reflect on this Creed, and success will surely mark your every endeavor.

Therefore, depart from this place with your heads held high which recognizing, as required by your predecessors and requested by your posterity, the challenge that is yours, i.e., justifying, in your own way, Clinton High School's raison d'etre.

It is our fervent hope that our Creator will grant you, in the days ahead, His richest blessings.

Sincerely yours,
CHS JOURNALISM STAFF

Mr. R. E. (Mickey) Cobbert

R. E. C.

By Jimmy Ricks*

"There was a man just yesterday,
Oh Heavenly Father let us pray
That other men will like him be,
A faithful servant unto Thee.

This man was great in all his ways,
And he really deserves all your praise,
A man of great generosity
A great great man R. E. C.

He helped me in my time of need,
I tried to thank him yes indeed.
But in my life I hope to be –
Just one tenth the man of R. E. C.

*Jimmy Ricks was one of Mr. Colbert's students.

"Somehow and somewhere there germinated in his mind the idea that association and cooperation would serve his ends better than unbridled egoism in the struggle for existence. Instead of "each man for himself" his motto became "each man for his tribe, or his nation, or ultimately – for mankind."

Mr. Colbert believed that cooperation is the key to success. He was genuinely interested in the welfare. of the students and put forth untiring efforts to promote academic achievement. Thus we the students of Clinton High School are proud to dedicate the 1970 TORNADO to the late Mr. R. E. Colbert.

Born July 26, 1921, near Cordell, he married Virginia Little in 1941. Prior to coming to Clinton, Mr. Colbert served at Cloud Chief from 1948 to 1951 and at Friendship from 1951 to 1957. He received his B.A. and M.T. from Southwestern State College. He had been principal of Clinton High for five years. He came to Clinton in 1957 as high school social studies teacher and basketball coach. A member of the Church of Christ, he was past president and member of the Rotary Club, a Master Mason, and member of the Clinton Masonic Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 339.

A man who was friendly, industrious, cooperative and conscientious ... we shall always cherish the memory of our late principal Mr. R. E. Colbert who passed away July 29, 1969.
